

Marine Biology Undergraduate Student Event

When: Tues., September 25th at 3:30PM

What: 3:30PM – Amanda Bourque seminar

Living the dream: Career options and road maps for the aspiring marine scientist

4:30PM - FREE food & drinks

Where: MSB 150

Grad
students
and faculty are encouraged to attend!!

Amanda Bourque, an ecologist with the NPS, implements ecological restoration projects in seagrass and coral reef habitat injured by vessel groundings and other impacts. She will talk about her career in the marine sciences!

